Basmati Rice Exporter: Top Rice Exporting Company in India

India, the land of rich diversity and cultures is also known for its fragrances and spices. God has blessed this country with various seasons, flavors and aromas. Somewhere around the mid-fifteenth century, some curious farmers grew a special brand of rice called 'Basmati.' And, since then the aroma of Basmati has been bewitching the entire world with its unique taste and fragrance. The tradition goes on and the new breed of Basmati is watered by perennial rivers and grows under the special care of traditional farmers. So far, many experiments have been done to improve the quality of Basmati Rice, but its inherent taste remains the same – as it was a few centuries ago. With the help of the latest processing techniques and hygienic packing, Indian basmati rice has been satiating the palate of the world.

Basmati Rice Supplier India is actually a variety of the long grain rice coated with a fine texture. With its rich coating and length, Basmati has been considered as one of the best varieties of the rice. Basmati rice means the "queen of fragrance" or the perfumed one. This type of rice has been grown in the foothills of the Himalayas. In India, Basmati rice is characterized by extra long, superfine slender grains having a length to breadth ratio of more than 3.5. The other rare qualities of Basmati rice are its sweet taste, soft texture, delicate curvature and an extra size. The Basmati rice does swell well during cooking while its aroma doubles up. Undoubtedly, this highly aromatic rice is India's gift to the world. The yield of basmati rice, per acre of land, is less than half of that of non- basmati rice. This is one obvious reason that makes it pretty expensive in the market. There are different varieties of basmati rice available in the market ranging from Rs.15 per kg to Rs.100 per kg.
